The role of pannexin1 gap junctional channels in cerebral ischemia/reperfusion: possible mediation of the cardioprotective effect of preconditioning. There is a critical need to identify new therapeutic targets for the prevention of ischemia/reperfusion (I/R) injury in cerebral and cardiac ischemia. We have found that the pannexin1 gap junction channel is up-regulated in the penumbra of rat and pig brains in response to middle cerebral artery occlusion (MCAO) and also in the ischemic heart after 30 min of myocardial ischemia. Using whole-cell patch clamp techniques in cultured neurons, we demonstrate that glucose deprivation leads to the activation of pannexin1 channels. In these channels, the posttranslational modification of Panx1 by red
